Dear Parents and Carers with Parental Responsibility,

Home Learning Update

Many thanks to all our learners and families for really embracing our new way of learning over the past week, your enthusiasm and commitment has been truly amazing and we have been overwhelmed by your response. It has certainly been very different teaching and learning in this way, but we do hope that you have found the activities sent and the (very strange) videos our teachers have been sharing each day useful and fun.

As we have said previously, we understand that this is a difficult period for many and we understand that for some, home-learning is not at the top of their priority list. Throughout this period we have shared a wealth of activities, stories and challenges through our school website and youtube channel in a bid to include something that everyone can access and enjoy, but we understand if you cannot join in with this at this time.

We have really loved reading all of your emails and sharing in the learning that you are continuing outside of school, be that things we have set or other learning opportunities you have found yourselves (baking, gardening, science experiments and dancing to name but a few). Next week we transition into the next phase of our home learning as some learners have now got to the end of their first home-learning packs. For those who are still working through the packs, our teachers will continue to introduce the activities each day and we encourage all who can to continue with these next week. For those who were self-isolating before the closure and have now finished their packs, there will be additional activities and challenges set each day through the school website for you to access and enjoy.

As always, if you have any queries or questions about your home-learning, you want to share your learning with us or you simply want to say hi, we would love to hear from you. Please use your class email address and your teachers will get back to you as soon as they can.
